Mpls.St.Paul Magazine’s February issue is packed with everything that makes the Twin Cities one of the most entertaining places to live. From unique foods and hangouts to stylish social events, see why Minnesota residents love to live here. Here are some highlights that would make great fodder for your audience:

COVER STORY: Let’s Get Physical!
Suddenly boutique gyms are everywhere – with boxing and barre, classes for new moms and boomers. Check out our guide to find one that works for you.

FEATURE: Great Dates
Want to spice up your relationship with something a little different in this season of romance? Here’s a “he said/she said” take on 10 fun nights out that are anything but ordinary.

FEATURE: Walk Don’t Walk
Drivers are supposed to yield to pedestrians at every intersection. When they don’t, other drivers are forced to make a tough decision: Obey the law and put someone at risk or break the law?

TRAVEL: Do the Wisconsin Dells grownup style.

SHOPPING + STYLE: Shopping & Style editor Allison Kaplan on the newest addition to Ridgedale Mall, Nordstrom.

EAT + DRINK: Food & Dining editor Stephanie March on Louis at Cossetta.

Let us make your job easier! Our editorial team stays ahead of the people, places, and things that are defining life in the Twin Cities and are available to bring these topics (and others) to life in your programming. Please contact Marketing & Events Director, Natasha Freimark (at nfreimark@mspmag.com or (w) 612.336.9207, (c) 612.741.0787) to schedule an appearance of one of our team for an upcoming show.

Best,

Jayne Haugen Olson
Editorial Director
Mpls.St.Paul Magazine
612.336.9272
jolson@mspmag.com